

Visual Studies
Spring 2013

Assignment #1 — The Familiar and the Unfamiliar

We'll be doing several short projects this semester and discussing them as a group. This one is an exercise in looking at objects in your everyday environment.

The task is to identify and take a photograph of two things:

1. Something that you see almost everyday.
2. Something that you have never seen before.

Upload your photos to the Flickr Group, Visual Studies 2013.

Due 4:00 pm, 7 Feb 2013.

We'll view and discuss your photos in class next week.

Note: I'll send out invitations this week for everyone to join the Flickr Group. The email should come from timothy.quigley@icloud.com.
