

Visual Studies
Spring 2013

Assignment #2 — Something that Matters

Your next assignment is to post a photo you think should matter to us. I know this puts you on the spot. Why should an image that matters to you mean something for someone else. Good question!

But notice that I did not say post a photo that matters to you. I said post one that you think should matter to someone else, in this case, our visual studies class.

You don't have to take the photo yourself. The image can come from wherever you like. Just be sure to cite your source in the title or the comment box.

And think about this for awhile before choosing or taking the photo.

Upload your photos to the Flickr Group, Visual Studies 2013.

Due 4:00 pm, 14 Feb 2013.